

Casey Potter

Casey Potter is a Houston native, dancer, and sports fan who has the honor of bridging these interests as the Coach of the Houston Texans Cheerleaders. This honor came after being the Captain of the Houston Rockets Power Dancers and 2014 NFL Pro Bowl representative for the Houston Texans. These opportunities inspired her to attain a Master's of Education in Sport Management to complement her Bachelor of Arts in Theatre and Dance; both from The University of Texas. Casey credits her career and many achievements to years of practicing, studying, and teaching leadership through opportunities in the dance team camp and competition industry in addition to being Lieutenant and Head Swingster of the Kilgore College Rangerettes as well as a proud Starboard Angel of Nimitz HS - Aldine ISD.

Casey is the proud wife of Curtis Alberts, a US Army Veteran. They have a three year old son named Colt who is a sweet and busy toddler.
